Emory Douglas is one of many contributing artists participating in Art+Action’s 2020 Census campaign. He is a graphic designer who worked as the Minister of Culture for the Black Panther Party from 1967-1980s. Douglas created iconic images that represented the struggles of African Americans during the 1960s and 1970s.